Mayor Dawson presented Mrs. Evelyn Williams as Citizen of the Year for 2017. Mayor Dawson said the following:

Mrs. Williams has been a resident of Greenbrier since her family moved here from Old Hickory when she was a third grader. She was co-valedictorian of her class at Greenbrier High School. She earned her BS degree from Austin Peay University and a Master’s from Peabody College. She taught sciences at Greenbrier High School for 30 years and influenced hundreds of students along the way. She served on the Board of Mayor and Aldermen for the City of Greenbrier and also served on the Robertson County Board of Education. For many years, she taught a Sunday School class at Greenbrier First Baptist. She has been a respected part of the community for a long time and is always giving of her time and talents. She embodies the essence of a true Southern Lady.
